

Monza, also the Formula 1 on track for the last ACI Racing Weekend

Exhibition on track with F1 and F2 cars

Rome, 15 October 2019 – The Formula Regional European Championship certified by FIA and the Italian F4 Championship powered by Abarth single-seater won't be the only ones on the track of the Monza Eni Circuit.

With the occasion of the next ACI Racing Weekend, 18-20 October, appointment that will conclude the championships, it is scheduled an exhibition on track with vintage Formula 1 and Formula 2 vehicles. In particular, for the F1 it will be the 1976 March 761 to hit the track, driven by the owner Roberto Farneti, former driver of Scuderia Everest; the other car it will be a F2 class 1973 March 732, brought on the Monza Eni Circuit track by Bruno Giacomelli, former F1 driver. In 1977 Giacomelli debuted in Formula 1 at the Italian GP when McLaren gave him the third car (the one driven by Villeneuve at the Great Britain GP). The year after he drove a M26, again with the British team.

A further initiative to enhance the level of the event and close the many championships running on the track with a sporty and spectacular weekend, with a particular attention on the history.
