March 14th, 2022 – Nikhil Bohra will join the US Racing team line-up for the 2022 Formula 4 season. We will see him at the start of the Italian F4 Championship certified by FIA with the previously announced Marcus Amand. This year, with the German team co-owned by Ralph Schumacher, he will face a rich program that also includes participations in the German series.

"I am excited to announce that I will be driving for US Racing in this year's Formula 4 season. I enjoy working with the Team and feel very comfortable with US Racing. We tested last year and were very happy with the results. I cannot wait to start the 2022 season with the new Formula 4 car" said the driver. After his career in karting, he made his debut in the F4 ADAC series just last year, before taking part in the UAE Championship earlier this year. This year, the 17-year-old, New York-born driver is ready for one of the most competitive Championships in the world, which will be the main challenge on his agenda in 2022.

"Nikhil is a structured and focused race driver with great potential. I'm very much looking forward to working with him in the Italian and German Formula 4 Championship" commented Ralph Schumacher.

"End of last year, we have been testing together and I have to say, I was really surprised with Nikhil's performance and speed. Nikhil is very fast and I am sure we will have some very exciting races with Nikhil" was the statement of Gerhard Ungar.
